A ROUND OF TALK.

Song Of The Season.

The prongs are on the maple.
And the peach is in the bloom.
And the hills and hedges are bursting
From the winter gathering tomb.
The farmer boy is whistling,
And the mule upon a boom.
They are planting down in Dixie,
The corn and sugar cane,
And turning up the mellores,
To try the fence again.
With brave hearts now they venture
On sunshine and the rain.
Too early get for whistles,
The arches of the rainbow.
Oh, bless their little souls,
Are rioting on the creek banks.
In search of fishing poles.
The green is on the brier,
And the peach is in the red,
And the hand of toil is stronger,
And they sing the song of plenty—
Of the harvest just ahead.
—Stanley Van in Home and Farm.

each the old and new, shows an increase in trade.

BIG CROP.—Some idea of the size of the tobacco crop of this county can be gained from the figures of the American Tobacco Co. Mr. Moss the buyer for the company at this place says that he has bought so far this season over three million pounds of tobacco and expects to buy more. In addition to this there has been an unusually heavy shipment of the product to the Louisville market by the farmers. The increase in the size over that of last year will be at least twenty five per cent.

A Thousand Dollars' Worth of Good.

"I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel and stones with excruciating pain," says A. H. Thurman, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O. "I got no relief from medicine until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure, when the result was surprising. A few doses started the kidneys and now I have no pain again my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has cost me $1000 worth of good," Foley's Kidney Cure will cure every form of kidney & bladder disease. Sold by the Red Cross Drug Store.

Stanley's Eloquence

The eloquent young Kentucky Congressman, the Hon. Owsley Stanley, has just been given the Bostonians a sample of Kentucky eloquence, Kentucky pathos and Kentucky stories, all of which are the best in the world. He was one of the guests of honor at the annual Congressional dinner given by the Newton Club at Newbury Boston, last week. His speech was the hit of the evening. All the Boston papers vie with each other in paying him tribute and I am glad of this opportunity to do him justice in this letter. The serious part of his speech was statesmanlike, his wit and humor were as bright as the sunlight that flashes on steel, his bursts of eloquence were the kind that make men's nerves tingle and pathetic peroration left not a dry eye in his audience as he all joined in singing "The Old Kentucky Home."

Bully for Stanley. It was a triumph to be proud of—Washington Cor. in Spencer Courier.

Congressman Stanley was once a citizen of Washington County, having taught school at Mackville several years ago.

Eggs for Hatching.

Mrs. R. A. McIntire, Springfield, Ky., R. F. D. No. 2, has eggs from pure bred B. P. Rocks and S. C. Fuff O-pingtons for sale at $1 per 15.

Bogus Whisky.

The practice of the rectifiers in making imitation Kentucky whisky was characterized in some plain language upon the floor of the Senate Monday by Senator Chinn. Senator Chinn, speaking in favor of the one and a half cent tax on the wine gallon, asserted that the man or corporation engaged in the business of counterfeiting the genuine, pure Kentucky whisky could make so much profit in the operation that these rectifiers could stand not only a levy of one and a half cent but rather one dollar a gallon and still be able to compete with the genuine distiller. "I would be ashamed to go back to my people," said Senator Chinn "and tell them I had voted to reduce this tax on this counterfeiting business. The rectifiers may be considered reputable business men by some of the Senators here but as for me I consider that the deception which they are forcing upon the public by labeling their new mixtures—which they can make in a few minutes—as famous old Kentucky whisky, eight or ten or twelve years old, puts these gentlemen in the class of the 'bacco steerer,' the 'green goods' man, and the 'gold brick' fellow who are outlived by the good people of Kentucky. The man who sells you a gold brick and tells you it was gold, and which, by chemical test, shows that it was brass, is put into state's prison as soon as the law can get hold of him, but the man who sells you a bogus whisky gets rich on the trick and becomes an influential citizen. If I had my way I would require them to tell the truth about these mixtures."—Harrodsburg Herald.

Men Past Sixty in Danger

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders. Usually enlargement of prostate gland this is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, and it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rockport, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 79 years old."

Not Guilty.

It was currently reported here Tuesday that Col. T. R. Phelps had died a few days ago at Seattle, Washington, where he was living with his daughter, Mrs. Brewster. (One gentleman told me that the report of the Colonel's demise in the Williamsburg news of the Springfield Leader, which stated that he would be buried there.—Harrodsburg Herald.) The gentleman who said he saw the item in the News-Leader is mistaken. We did not publish it. On the contrary we understand that the report of Col. Phelps' death is erroneous.

Letter From Illinois.

Brunswick, Ill., Dear readers of the News Leader, if you will not consider this trespassing I will try to jot down a few items from our little village as there are a great many Kentuckians around here some of the dear old Kentucky readers would enjoy reading a letter from Brunswick, Illinois.

The News Leader is a welcome guest in our home, everyone is anxious for it to come, it brings us news from our Kentucky home, it brings us news of all the marriages, deaths and births of Washington county. In last weeks issue we read the death of Mr. F. M. Campbell one of the county's most prominent men and one that will be greatly missed.

I must say that I regret very much that the Home Coming of the Old Kentuckians is so early in the season. Were it later there would be a great many more that would join the happy band, but I shall celebrate that time whether I be here or there by singing "My Old Kentucky Home" in the old Southern way.

Most of our farmers are getting blue over the bad weather and bad roads. The roads are worse than they have been for years, so bad that the rural man failed to make his round for three days straight. But it won't be long until the sun will shine and the ground will dry and then one can hear the spring birds and prairie chickens and the merry whistle of the farmer boy as he harnesses his team and hooks to his gang plow at Cincinnati, and was burned to death both legs being burned entirely off. The remains were brought to the home of his grandfather, Mr. James E. Edsall, Bargh, Saturday night last. Funeral services were held by Rev. W. D. Moore, after which the remains were interred at Shawnee Run Attorney E. M. Hardin went to Cincinnati yesterday to look into the matter. Suit may be brought.—Harrodsburg Herald.

Black mud is the only fault that anyone can find with Illinois but one has so many other advantages that they can afford to put up with the mud and not grumble, but if we had the hard roads here it would be almost perfect.

MAY CALL ANOTHER EXTRA SESSION.

Acting on advice of leading Democratic attorneys, Gov. Beckham, it is said, has about made up his mind to call another extra session of the Legislature for the purpose of restricting the State according to the provisions of the Constitution. The fact that the R. publicans in the General Assembly have decided to test the constitutionality of the redistricting legislation enacted at their regular session of 1906 and previous Legislatures has caused a feeling of uneasiness to come over the Democrats. For eminent attorneys have given their opinion that the contention of the Republicans will be sustained in the courts.

The Democratic representatives in Congress are also fearful that the present law is unconstitutional. They fear that the question might arise after the November election, and it would serve the Republican opponent is grounds for contest. They believe that if the question was raised to the National House of Representatives their state could be benefited, and they are anxious that the defects in the present law be remedied. The Democratic Congressmen seek re-election, it is said, will urge the Governor to call the Legislature in extraordinary session.

Since the Republican members in the General Assembly made known their intention to test the constitutionality of the redistricting bill the Democrats have found that their position is untenable. From eminent authorities they have learned that the Republican position will be sustained in the courts. They have been told that the redistricting legislation enacted at the session of 1906 and 1908 is clearly invalid and the Court of Appeals will, when the question is submitted to that body, hold it to be unconstitutional.

When the redistricting bill was up for passage at the last session of the Legislature, the Republicans members warned the majority that the bill was unconstitutional, and that they would have the courts pass on the matter. Those threats were not taken seriously but the action of the committee of Senators and Representatives, of which Senator A. S. Bennett was the Chairman, in retaining eminent counsel for institute proceedings in the courts have caused the Democrats no little concern.—Low, Herald.

Mrs. Jane Logsdon Dead.

Mrs. Jane Logsdon an old and highly respected lady of the county died on last Wednesday night at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. J. P. Willett in the Pleasant Grove neighborhood.

The deceased was 77 years of age and was the widow of Frank P. Logsdon for years a prominent citizen of the county who died in 1880. Mrs. Logsdon was a woman of many excellent traits of character and was greatly loved and respected by all with whom she came in contact. She was a devoted member of the Catholic church and the funeral took place at St. Dominic here on Friday morning. The following sons and daughters survive Mrs. Logsdon, Mrs. J. R. Phelps of California, Mrs. Ben Haydon and Mrs. J. P. Willett, of this county, Messrs. Steve and William Logsdon, Miss Adelle Logsdon and Mrs. J. R. Berry, of Missouri. She is also survived by three sisters as follows: Mrs. Mary A. Noe, Mrs. T. L. Simms of Louisville, and Miss Bettie Smith who is a sister of the Catholic church and is known as Sister Patricia, of Nashville, Tenn.

Temperance Meeting.

The mass meeting in the interest of the temperance cause filled the Court House to the doors on last Sunday night and the meeting clearly demonstrated the great interest among the people in cause of temperance.

The meeting was opened by Judge I. H. Thurman who in a few remarks declared himself to be unequivocally opposed to the sale of liquor at any and all times.

Judge Thurman stated that he had been told that for him to take a stand against the liquor traffic meant his political downfall, but that he was willing to risk it and could not under any circumstances advocate the sale of whiskey. Rev. Lyon of the Methodist church made a few remarks on the moral side of the question and Dr. Latimer read from the bible in support of the temperance cause.

Rev. Walden of the Christian church spoke of the question from a practical and business standpoint and presented figures and statistics of the finances and business of towns where local option exists and compared them with whiskey selling towns.

Mr. Walden argued that the business of a town is benefitted rather than otherwise by local option. Rev. W. H. Williams gave a short talk and said that there is a higher and better reason than all why the whiskey traffic should be voted out and that is that prohibition stands for God and for morals. At the close of the meeting the proposition was put requesting all those against whiskey selling in Springfield to stand. The entire audience arose as one man and was dismissed with the singing of "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow."

Fiscal Court Meets.

The Washington County Fiscal Court met Tuesday in its regular April session. Besides allowing a number of claims the Court has been quite liberal in appropriations for roads. An appropriation of $1,500 was allowed to assist in building two and a half miles of turnpike road from Mayes Chapel to the Pleasant Run turnpike. This road will be of great convenience to the citizens of that end of the county and will also benefit the business of Springfield as it will make it more convenient for the farmers to get to Springfield than to Lebanon. The road will cost $3,000 the balance of the amount is being raised by private subscription.

scription, the merchants of Springfield donating a liberal share. The magistrates also made an allowance of $2,000 to build a turnpike road through the Hillsboro country or leading from the Springfield and Willisburg pike at Fitz's to gate through to the Mackville pike. The question of building a bridge across Sulphur creek in the Cardwell neighborhood was considered but it was decided not to make the appropriation until next year.

A communication was read from the committee in charge of arrangements for Home Coming Week at Louisville in which the county was asked for an appropriation of $88 as its share in certain expenses incident to the entertainment of the guests. The allowance was made by the court. The court wound up its business yesterday and adjourned.
